Project Title: Website Development

Problem to Be Solved:

An ICT solution for a key legal service was required. In order to achieve this, guidance, planning and prototyping of initial stages and routes were required to lay the foundations for code and development.

How TSSG Delivered Solution for Industry:

The Design and Usability Team brought the idea from paper to screen by creating a working prototype of the product. The key foundations for this service were laid, to enable the client to progress more swiftly to next phase of development.

Impact for the Company:

The work done by Design and Usability Team at TSSG, has brought the project to a stage where the website can be built and the product launched. It has enabled the client to have a clear plan of future development routes and next phases of development.

Company Testimonial:

"I found working with Design and Usability Team at TSSG, extremely easy and beneficial and their expertise allowed my project to develop from the seedling of an idea to a stage where I can make it a working product. They had the technological skills and knowledge that I did not to develop the idea and they were extremely generous and patient with their time, explaining the process as work progressed."
